	A Christmas Carol	Visual Storyboard

Our two actors enter at the beginning and sing a carol, before introducing the story.	They set up the office scene, where Scrooge and Bob Cratchit are working.	There are several visitors that interrupt Scrooge's work, much to his irritation. Some of the visitors are played by puppets, as shown here.	Scrooge returns home and lights a fire, but the Ghost of Jacob Marley appears in the fireplace and tells Scrooge he will be visited by 3 spirits.

Scrooge goes to bed, anxiously awaiting the arrival of the first spirit.	The Ghost of Christmas Past appears and takes Scrooge back to relive the memories of his earlier life.	Scrooge is taken to his old school, where he meets his little sister, played by a puppet as shown.	Scrooge goes to his old workplace, and meets Fezziwig, his cheerful and good natured boss.

Scrooge is also taken to meet Belle, the girl he once loved. Scrooge is forced to relive the moment that they parted.	Having returned home, Scrooge is visited by the next spirit, the Ghost of Christmas Present, who takes Scrooge to see various Christmas scenes.	Scrooge visits Bob Cratchit's home and family. This time though, Scrooge plays Mrs. Cratchit, while the children are played by puppets as shown.	The Ghost of Christmas Present shows Scrooge images of other far off scenes, including a mine and a lighthouse.

Scrooge is taken to visit his nephew, Fred's house, and witnesses the party taking place there.	The Ghost of Christmas Present is growing old as it is almost time for him to leave. Scrooge is warned about Ignorance and Want, who appears as silhouettes at the windows.	It gets quite dark, and there is a loud knock at the door. The silent Ghost of Christmas Future appears, but although he looks intimidating, he is there to help Scrooge.	Scrooge is shown various characters, played by puppets, who are all talking cheerfully about a man who recently died. Scrooge is upset to hear this.

Finally Scrooge is taken to a graveyard, and here he realises that he is the man everyone was talking about. Scrooge sees his own grave, and cries out that he has changed, and learnt his lesson.	With a loud crash, the grave falls and is replaced by Scrooge's bed. Scrooge looks around to find he is safely back at home.	Scrooge heads outside and meets a young boy, played by a puppet. Scrooge asks the boy to buy a big turkey and deliver it to Bob Cratchit's house.	Scrooge goes out into the streets and meets characters from the beginning of the show, apologising to them and making amends. There is a little cloud of snow that falls on Scrooge from above.

Finally Scrooge goes to see Bob Cratchit, who is with Tiny Tim. Scrooge promises to help them from now on.	The final narration explains how Scrooge went on to be a better man, and to keep the Christmas spirit all year round!		